05/03/2024 18:00	History - Had Canixin DHPPI/L2 vacc. 2 weeks ago. Now over 10 weeks, advised o that this vaccine is not compatible but not really relevant in terms of vacc. course as would advise 1 x DHP now as > 10w.o. and 1 x L4, 2nd L4 4 weeks. Discussed lepto. Difference b/w L2 and L4. Discussed and advised KC vacc. O to consider. CONSENT TO NURSE GIVING KC AT 2nd L4.  Had advocate 01.03.24. Discussed this vs. S. trio, that we use latter that not a spot on but a chewable tablet, covers ticks etc. O happy to use and has signed up to plan.		Adam van den Broek 6177080

	BIOP a few days, fed RC labrador. Offered RC purina Puppy 3kg large breed, discussed, O DECLINED.  Insured w Waggel so PP 4 wks free not taken up.  BCS 3.25/5 , typical labrador puppy. Checked chip, fine, asked CL to check details.  Discussed phc, costs, benefits, savings, supplement fee, that can cancel at any time and work out pro rata. O happy to join today. Gave them a leaflet.  CE - mm pink, moist, crt< 2secs; L nn wnls, no skin tent. NAD oral exam, eyes, nose, ears, coat, skin, abdomen, chest, no audible heart murmur, femoral pulses strong, no deficits, T 38.6C, HR 112nsa, RR 20. Testicles palpable but small, and he was wriggly, so check at 2nd vacc. No obvious umbilical hernia.  PLAN - advised worm now , at 2nd vacc. and then quarterly long term per weight. Advised nurse checks as appropriate to ensure dispense correct S. trio/droncit. Discussed castration, but said that I would not do until 18m.o.  O said that he humps things, advised can be normal, if o not happy re behaviour to try to stop now, be firm, distract when doing etc but may still try to do, castration may also not stop it. O asked re crate training, where to have him sleep, advised that this was o's choice, but if want to crate train then need to be consistent, not give in to crying etc. O said that they are doing this and he usually settles with in 15 minutes.  PLAN - 2nd L4 4 weeks, KC if o decides. Discussed re possible vacc. side effects, possible injection site reaction, call if any concerns.  Lovely dog.

07/03/2024 09:33	History - Hello,  Thank you for letting us know. Our breeder (Lynsted Labs) took all of our information and was processing the transfer of microchip registration. They mentioned this could be up to 28 days (from the 1st of March, 2024). We will check with the breeder of Dennis and get back to you as soon as possible once more information is known.  Have a lovely evening.  Grace and Will McKinnon.  History - Hello,  No worries, I would advise checking again using the link I sent you after the 28 day period is up just to ensure everything has been processed smoothly??. 04/10/2024 10:21	History - OR noticed bilateral inflammation and discharge from both eyes - mucoid-mucopurulent - not been rubbing excessively. Also noticed some itching and rubbing on the front elbows and feet where he's trying to lick excessively. No other pruritus and has had flea and worming tx so is UTD.  CE - Very bouncy so difficult to keep still. Bilateral conjunctival hyperaemia and left eye some slight chemosis. No blepharospasm and blink/menace present. Forelimbs have got some inflammation on the top part of the leg/elbow and on the digital surface. Rest of the coat is fine. No signs of inflammation elsewhere. Able to visualise fundus. Difficult to examine eyes enough to perform STT.  Plan - discussed sometimes can be juvenile/follucular conjunctivitis that needs 2 seasons of spring, summer, autumn and winter to resolve the conjunctivitis. but not typical to get dermal lesions too. Unsure if primary allergic cause and cannot rule out poss KCS but is very young to have developed this - signalment not correct.  Plan is to use Isathal and prednisolone low dose and also keep a diary of changes of environemnt/diet and if any pattern or seasonality may look into addressing that. Recheck if any deterioration with the eyes or skin Discussed ideally to stop him from rubbing. Also ok to use ocry-gel as lubricant alongside this and can collect over the counter for use if flares up during the next 2 seasons.

Not using any shampoo on teh feet. Told O that would not advise any allergen testing as he is too young- should be at least one year old. Would do allergen testing generally with the view to doing immunotherapy and ideally would want to rule out food allergy first. O reports feet are looking a bit puss-y. Said if this is the case and he is very bothered by them he should come in for a recheck. We may need to use oral abs in addition to topical meds. O should be using dermacleanse shampoo and or wipes on the feet on a regular basis if not already. O will call to book in.		Anna Wisniewski 7095805

06/11/2024 08:59	History - EMAIL FROM O - Hello,  Thank you for sending this information.  We are yet to be provided with Dennis's prescription for Atopease. The vet we saw on Monday said she would provide it so that we can source from an online pharmacy. Could this be provided as soon as possible?  Further the vet we saw on Monday, said she would provide a quote for the allergen testing available for Dennis for us to consider, could we also be provided with this as soon as possible?  Lastly, could we be provided with an email invoice for the appointment on Monday 4.11 at 5pm, to pass onto our insurance?  Regards, Will McKinnon.	Paxton - Gipsy Road	Charlanais Langeveldt

	Please see attached the estimate from a premium allergy panel. This includes indoor allergens (e.g dust and storage mites), grass and weeds, trees and a food panel. A slightly cheaper 'comprehensive panel' can be run for £433.50, this doesn't test for food allergens. I include this because there's not much evidence to suggest running a blood test for food allergies is particularly helpful, but some people prefer to test everything for completeness. I would probably recommend instead a diet trial on a hypoallergenic diet for 6-8 weeks. It is important to remember that these tests won't diagnose a specific allergy, only pinpoint potential allergens that may be causing symptoms to flare up. The benefits of running bloods would be to help identify potential flare factors and help us to reduce exposure. The information can also be used to create immunotherapy, almost like a vaccine against these allergens. It's estimated that around 75% of dogs show improvement with immunotherapy. This is a great blog post on allergy testing: https://vethelpdirect.com/vetblog/2023/09/10/allergy-tests-on-dog-blood-do-they-work/ All the best,

DUDE normal. did cut chicken from diet a few weeks ago. v/d none. has not done hypoallergenic food trial before. is UTD on POM-V antiparasites. felt steroid injection didn't help that much Exam: BAR, eyes, nose, ears, mouth NAD. LN NAD. mm p/m crt&lt; 2s. thoracic ausc WNL. didn't take temp. BCS 6/9 Dorsal aspect of all 4 feet on proximal joint and surface alopecia. no inflammation visible on skin. palmar and plantar aspects of feet NAD. no porphorin staining. Assessment: went through different options for workup. ectoparasites covered by hypoallergenic food trial not done. reacted well to antibiotics- bacterial origin? also gave apoquel at same time so unsure which is the primary cause - atopy vs food atopy?? Psychogenic component of licking? stress related? INI on anything possibly to trial gabapentin??? Disc blood test as requested. far cheaper to perform diet trial and then challenge. O says insurance only up to £750 so INI money possibly better spent on biopsies? Can get results for environmental allergens but approach to treatment of this is already tricky in a dog. apoquel normally advised. Already storing food in freezer so dust mites should not be issue. O would like to trial food for 6 weeks. adv how strict diet has to be. nothing non-hypoallergenic prescription grade to pass the lips at all. O understands. recheck if worsens as may need treatment as welfare issue if chewing constantly. could also look at trial of cytopoint for a couple of months?
